What I forgot to mention or got sidetracked because I got off target and forgot what I was talking about in the first place was concerning alcoholics they're not dependable anybody who wants to sleep their way through life as a zombie is not somebody I can depend on. That's what I learned from nursing an alcoholic for two years. And this relates to the person in question who's famous and likes to drink to self medicate he's not dependable so why should I be in a State of shock over his discontinuation of our dialogue a few years ago I shouldn't be surprised at all in fact I was a little disgusted to learn that he likes to drink still but what do you know we all have our vices that we like to be addicted to I suppose they make us feel good they are our comfort food they are our comfortable experiences but do they serve any evolutionary purpose I hope so or else it's a waste of time to keep them up.
