

Pleomorphism and Biofeedback is the only reason why Isopathy cured people who were afflicted with the Black Death (Bubonic Plague).

It is not generally understood that Luis Pasteur was a plagiarist. He stole his germ theory from another Frenchman who entertained a different idea called pleomorphism. Luis twisted polymorphism into his own ideology.

We remember Luis while forgetting the other guy.

The other guy was promoting the idea that we are responsible for our actions. Because pleomorphism makes it possible for each person to infect themselves with a deadly illness instead of catching some germ from their environment as popularized by Luis Pasteur.

Pleomorphism dictates that it is the conditions within ourselves which causes benign microorganisms to morph into a series of various pathogens eventually terminating these morphologies back at their starting point.

Thus, is the idea of pleomorphism born.

Royal Raymond Rife vindicated pleomorphism with the invention of his microscope which was so far ahead of his time a century ago and our time of today that no one has duplicated his microscope because nobody can comprehend how we could see microscopic organisms without killing them in an electron microscope.

Royal's microscope didn't kill anything. Thus, Royal was able to test various protocols for killing cancer causing viruses because he could see the consequences of his tests.

Taking back our karma will become suddenly more popular when people lose their multiple degrees of freedom to do as they please as if tomorrow will never come.

If isopathy is too austere for you, then you are probably not ready to increase your maturity since any other austerity of parallel severity is usually required of any individual who seeks success from lethal pathologies.
